Office Hours: Mondays 1-2pm or by appt. Zoom
Music Department Phone: 713-525-3159

Course Description: This course will teach music students the practical skills needed to turn their artistic passion into a profitable business. Leveraging tools from areas of business, networking, self-promotion, finance, fundraising, etiquette and mental toughness, students will generate a professional portfolio that includes a personal mission statement, website, business plan, and other resources. Students will hear presentations from music entrepreneurs and be encouraged to seek input from mentors and experts within the UST music department, in Houston and beyond to expand their network.

Hybrid Online Learning: This course will utilize Zoom and Blackboard on a weekly basis and students will be expected to be independent and timely in their submission of work. Discussion board submissions will be due Wednesdays at 11:59pm and will serve as a reflection of the weeks material and preparation for class Thursdays at 3pm on Zoom.

Required materials:

We will make frequent use of an online resource, Coro by iCadenza. Coro is a series of mini video courses on various Entrepreneurship topics and include worksheets and a Facebook group. Please purchase a semester pass ($49) for this resource at the following website. <https://avocado.thrivecart.com/icadenza-career-library/>.

Eastman Case Studies - TBA

Other Resources:

Beyond Talent by Angele Myles Beeching

The Entrepreneurial Muse by Joseph Nytch

The Savvy Musician and The Savvy Music Teacher by David Cutler

Assignments and Homework:

Weekly coursework will include watching Coro videos, submitting worksheets, responding to discussion board questions, reading and responding to case studies, and participating in weekly class discussions and presentations. These assignments will count as fifteen percent of your grade and must be submitted on time for full credit.

Final Portfolio Submission:

Students will submit their professional portfolio digitally at the end of the course. The portfolio will serve as the final exam and should encompass each assignment completed throughout the semester. Students waiting until the end of the course to submit work due earlier in the course work will receive a failing grade. Your professional portfolio will count as twenty five percent of your final grade.

Participation is crucial for your understanding and absorption of the information in this class and accounts for fifteen percent of the final grade. Your participation grade will include class discussion, presentation Q and A sessions and any other materials required by professor.

Business Plan:

Students will develop a business plan based on a musical venture (music studio, cd project, ensemble formation, non-profit, community outreach program, concert series, music festival etc). Business plan is expected to be a viable business proposition that would incur real income and may be based on a current project or new idea. Professor will introduce the facets of a business plan throughout the semester via class discussion, presentations, videos, guest business owners with feedback from the class. Final presentations will occur the last week of school, business plan will account for twenty five percent of your final grade.
